

Navaneeth V

Technical Project Lead

Professional Summary

Writing programs for machines is not a big deal. However, writing in a way that other developers can understand is a skill.

I'm well versed with Data Structures, Object-Oriented Principles, Design Patterns, Relational DB Design, Code Debugging, Query Optimization, Web Security, and Code Version Controls.

I can successfully deliver, scale, and optimize software products. I never compromise on code quality. I can develop extendable software by using cutting-edge technology and by implementing SOLID principles.

I'm constantly learning new things because it fascinates me. I have a passion for staying organized and freeing everyone's life struggles. Lifting the weight on the shoulders of other people gives me such a real joy in my heart, I always do my best to improve it.
